How does Merchant Deposit Capture work?

Using Merchant Deposit Capture is easy:

- Scan checks from a web-connected computer - using a desktop check scanner, simply scan both sides of the checks in a single pass.
- Prepare the deposit - view images of the scanned checks right on your PC. The dollar amounts for the checks are automatically read, and the deposit is totaled.
- Electronically send the deposit to the bank - after you save the deposit, go to the Pending Items tab and click the deposit's submit link. The deposit is sent to the bank through a secure internet connection. Funds are deposited into your account - funds may be available sooner than traditional deposits.

Merchant Remote Deposit Capture provides a quick and easy way for businesses – small and large – to make deposits. With a simple check scanner, made available by Platte Valley Bank, you can send electronic images of your payment checks directly to the bank – right from the convenience of your office. The money makes it into your account safely and quickly, enabling you to focus on building your business, not on banking details.

Depositing checks from the convenience of your own office eliminates trips to the bank, increases efficiency, reduces the risk of check fraud and creates faster cash flow. Plus, you can track and manage your deposit activity in real-time across multiple store or office locations.

A personal banker is pleased to provide an onsite demonstration at your place of business. Once you're ready to set up Merchant Remote Deposit Capture, onsite installation is quick. Minimum training is required, and maintenance is easy and accessible with help from Platte Valley Bank.
